"Keep it Between the Mustard and the Mayonnaise"

by Jim Chism

By the time you get your monthly installment of the "Legend" a large contingent from our club will be in Birmingham for the Mustang 45th Anniversary Celebration. As you know, our club will be the driving force behind the 45th Open Track Event.

The 45th promises to be a wonderful event. It will be somewhat smaller than the little party we threw here in Nashville, but a wonderful experience just the same. I hope that many of you can come down for a day trip to take in the sites and see what is new and shaking at Ford and with Mustang in particular.

Have a wonderful meeting. See you in May.

BTW, the next BOD meeting will be held on May 12th in Dickson at the Farmers Restaurant located just off of I40 at exit 172. The meeting will start at 6:30, and is open to all club members. The food is excellent and the discussion lively.

See you there.

From the Desk of Terri Roach

Pensacola, Fl 2009

The show was like many others... nice cars, beautiful sun shine, good friends, but this year it was all about the trip down and back that made the weekend hilarious.

Lets begin on Fri March 20th. Lance and I were the only ones brave enough to make the drive, so we met in Cool Springs and began the 440 mile trek. Down around Columbia, TN we were blown away by 4 guys from steeda group. I say blown away cause we were running 75mph and they rocked the cars as they passed and left us! We later met them in Florida. We stopped around Jasper, Al at a rest area for a much needed break. When we got back to the cars, Lance's was smoking and oil dripping out of the grill. We lifted the hood and oil was EVERY where! The lid on the oil had blown off and not a drop was left in the engine. I freaked! Here we are in the middle of nowhere and only a qt of oil between the two of us. We got in my car and headed off to the next exit. 8qts of oil later, we stopped back at his car. The problem is now I am on the North bound side of the rest area. So Lance gets out and walks to car, while I head back north for a mile and get off and back on the interstate to now head south. So now with oil in car and no damage done, we continue our trek.

Now its 6pm and we finally reach the hotel. We check in, unload, and head for the car wash. Now last year, it took us hours to find the car wash. (Apparently, people in Florida don't wash their cars) So when we pulled in to find it deserted and no hoses, I about died. We drove around a little and finally gave up and chanced one of those automated ones with the brushes. As I sit in the bay, water begins to spray and proceed to pour in the top from that tiny pin hole above my seat! I sat there with my thumb in the hole to no avail. I get out soaking wet and now my paint is stripped PINK! (21 yo oxidizing paint) NOW WHAT!? Lance is panicked and said what are we going to do? I say well no choice but to wax it. So we went to eat dinner and then pulled into the hotel and began to wax at 8pm! He said we are going to be here for at least two hours. I said not me, this is the going to be the quickest wax job known to man! 25 minutes later, I am headed to my room for a much needed shower and bed!

Now sat was the show, sun shining, 75 degrees, beautiful! Fords, Mopars, and motorcycles are everywhere. Met many people from Tn, including the speeding Steeda boys who were extremely nice, saw some nice nice cars. Went on a shopping spree and just had a blast. Sunday was the award ceremony and the day began chilly with clouds. I'm in shorts and flip flops and jacket. ha-ha Finally sun came out and the wait was over, Lance and I both took 1st place! yeah! We now begin the long trek home at 3:40pm. Now is when the real fun begins.

We stopped about 5:30pm for lunch (we haven't eaten since 8am). Now figuring that we have already had hamburgers and hot dogs, we would shake things up and try KFC. Mistake number one. Bathrooms were nasty and nonfunctioning, food so dry it couldn't be chewed, and there was vomit in the floor with a wet floor sign by it, which was noticed later. We topped off our fuel and hit the road again. An hour later was when the trouble began. First let me state I have no Gallbladder (Ya'll without one know what I am talking about) and secondly, I'm sure the rancid fried food didn't help. Embarrassing to say but I needed a restroom NOW! We stopped at an exit with only two gas stations, I wasn't picky. At the first one, the attendants were gripping about plugged toilets and spraying air freshener. Not my concern! I couldn't get into the ladies room due to some cackling girls holding the door shut. Finally I get in and the empty stall is plugged and the other has a young lady who was taking her time. So I run out of that store, get in the car, drive across interstate, and run into the other gas station with Lance laughing the entire way. While in the restroom, I pause to answer a Taren's text. A lady walks in, makes a deposit, and turned the lights out and left. Now I'm in the dark somewhere in Alabama. Someone else comes in, flips lights on, and I proceed to thank her which scared her to death. Now I realize there is no toilet paper in my stall! After borrowing some from the neighbor, I find Lance in the parking lot rolling with laughter. Apparently, there was a young man in the car beside us stating he needed to make a deposit but all the toilets were plugged up! Did everyone eat at the KFC?!

So we make our way back on the road and after several hours, stop at a rest area. Figuring with multiple stalls, we would have a better chance. Wouldn't you know there is a greyhound bus of like 70 elderly people loading up. Okay at this point, I just need to give up. We get back on the road and by 10pm made in Lawrenceburg. We stop for gas and dinner, while fueling up, Lance said look at that sign. It said "Welcome spring breakers!" Okay, is there a lake near by, maybe a field party, I mean really, what is there to do in Lawrenceburg for spring break! So we got McDonalds to go and hit the road full force. I made it home at 11pm. Thank God! I wanted to kiss the ground! Well that was our trip. We had a blast and it was interesting. I can't wait till next year but will know better than to eat at KFC next time.
